

DAILY PRAYER
(for the week of January 17 - 23)

O Lord,

During this week, we remember the wedding in Cana. We remember that all weddings are blessed because of your presence there. Help me, O Lord, to remember that you walked in the market as well as in the temple, that you dined not only with family, but also with strangers, rejected people, and outcasts. You visited friends and enemies alike. You gave your skill to the common things of craft, like wood and stone. You spent your life in anonymous places with anonymous people; you visited the graves of friends, and walked down a road toward Emmaus. Help me to see these ordinary places and ordinary times as, by your presence, equally blessed. Amen.
