

DAILY PRAYER
(for the week of April 24 - 30)

O God,

You are more than worthy of any offering I could make. The whole earth praises you endlessly with songs and prayers more wonderful than those of which I am capable. Let me stumble along, O God, not because I will improve, but because you know stumbling efforts are genuine. Let my life, this day, be my offering to you. In all I know and do, all I see and say, all I attempt—regardless of the results—let my life be an offering to you. For love's own sake. Amen.
