OCTOBER-DECEMBER 2020

Ministry Guide

WORSHIP | GROW | SERVE

'm sure you have thought, said, or heard something similar many times by now, but let me just reiterate, "What a year!"

2020 has been full of unprecedented experiences. Dichotomies of sickness and health, grief and celebration, failures and progress, division and unity. It has been exceptional in so many ways. Sometimes I have found myself wanting to understand why all of this is happening, to somehow grasp back whatever control I never really had, and then I am humbled:

"My heart is not proud, Lord, my eyes are not haughty; I do not concern myself with great matters or things too wonderful for me. But I have calmed and quieted myself, I am like a weaned child with its mother; like a weaned child I am content. Israel, put your hope in the Lord both now and forevermore" (Psalm 131:1-3).

"[UALC], put your hope in the Lord both now and forevermore!" It brings me great peace to remember that in the midst of this uncertainty we also celebrate the great hope that remains certain in our Lord, both now and forevermore.

And so, my prayer in this moment is for you to engage the following guide with great anticipation and excitement! As you explore the incredible list of ways to engage in worship, spiritual growth, and service over the next several months. We remain steadfast in our love of God, and our love of one another, and we celebrate with great victory our hope that is in the Lord, both now and forevermore.

Grace and Peace, Jack McClintock Director of Communications

WORSHIP

We gather in-person and online to worship God and encourage one another in the faith. We hear from God's Word and participate in the sacraments of communion and baptism.

HOPE FOR EXILES SERIES

NOVEMBER 29-DECEMBER 20

Hope for exiles is found in Jesus. This might not sound profound, but we will find that it is. When the people of God in the Old Testament faced exile they looked forward to the coming of Jesus. When the early Christians in the New Testament faced persecution for their faith, they looked to the second coming of Jesus. Whenever people in the Scriptures face isolation, suffering and a chaotic world, they turn their focus to a Savior.

During this series we will draw out themes that help us understand what it means to experience exile. We will search how God works in the midst of exile and we will unpack and celebrate the ways that Jesus offers us true hope in exile.

Daily Bible readings and resources for your time with God.

DEPOLARIZED: THE GOSPEL AND POLITICS

A message from Pastor Steve:

The political climate of our nation is growing angrier and more divided, and it can be hard for Christians to know how to respond. It would be easy for us to ignore this. But for the sake of the Kingdom, we have to talk about it. And I think there's real hope and power for Christians to rise above the hostility of the culture. I'd like to offer you two resources to help us grow as followers of Jesus in turbulent times:

- Please join our church family in prayer. In our Sunday worship and our Daily Worship resources, we've begun including prayers for healing the divisive polarization in our society, including prayers for racial reconciliation and justice. These are not prayers of the political right or left. These are prayers of the church of Jesus Christ, written by members of our pastoral staff. You can find some of them at ualc.org/prayer.
- I think the Gospel of Jesus equips Christians to engage across political differences with less arrogance and more humility, less villainization and more collaboration, less fear and more hope.

Remember, no matter what happens at the ballot box this November, Jesus is Lord - yesterday, today, and forever. He has been in the business of saving people and building His church in every nation on earth for thousands of years.
